

DEATH TAKES H. E. HILL, MARION COUNTY LEGISLATOR

LOCAL INDUSTRIES IN MERGER

Today

Hoover—
One Wild Day
High Finance Overdid It
Politics, Stocks, Money

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

MR. HOOVER, whose nomination is expected by those that opposed it, is a successful engineer, understanding business problems, a first-class business man and a good organizer.

His people know him, and have seen him at work for years. There is no mystery, no "dark horse," no "pull" in the "big men" in a back room, and no "pull" in the "big men" in a back room.

His stock exchange, yesterday, showed what you might call a "wild day." Five and a quarter million dollars' worth of stock was sold, the ticker still going at 4:55 o'clock.

Many, this morning, wish they had taken the advice often printed here, "DON'T GAMBLE." Those who sell Wall Street will sell stocks as fast as they bought them.

But values haven't been hurt. Stocks by the dozen are being sold below their intrinsic worth. The market will come to its senses, little by little, and throw back out of the market the more money. And the country's prosperity will go ahead.

His money, that didn't want to be "hoovered," and thought it wise to go to the bank, look doubtful for a moment, perhaps beyond it.

General Dawes probably will be nominated for vice president, and the country, regardless of politics, will have no leadership, as it has had for President Coolidge, and prospering go ahead.

Yesterday it was said: "Only a miracle can prevent Hoover's nomination." That would be a miracle.

The first miracle is the possibility of Hoover's nomination in spite of the fact that Wall Street didn't want him. That's a big enough miracle for one convention.

PASSES AWAY AT HOSPITAL IN COLUMBUS

Local Member of General Assembly Succumbs After Operation

PROMINENT ATTORNEY

Practiced Law Here Many Years; Serving Third Term in Legislature

H. Edmund Hill, 70, Marion County representative in the Ohio legislature, died at 4:30 o'clock this morning at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus. His death followed an illness of two years and was caused by pneumonia, which developed from an operation for gallstones last Friday. He had been removed to the hospital from his home, 140 W. Columbus, Monday, May 28. Mr. Hill, for many years a prominent Marion attorney, was serving his third term in the state legislature when death came. He was also serving as a member of four legislative committees, insurance and judiciary committees, and the committees on health and penal institutions and soldiers and sailors' relief, and was particularly interested in law enforcement and was a strong advocate of prohibition. He also achieved no little prominence as the author of the anti-Sunday liquor bill, which was defeated after a lengthy discussion in the last session of the state legislature.

The body was brought to Marion today and tonight will be taken from the Hill home, 140 W. Columbus, to the Hill residence, 240 W. Columbus. The funeral is to be held at 3 o'clock, Friday afternoon, at St. Charles, Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, according to arrangements being made today. Burial will be in the family plot in Marion Cemetery.

Entered in 1922

Mr. Hill was nominated and elected on the Republican ticket to represent Marion County in the House of Representatives in 1922. Previous to that time and since his admittance into the bar in March, 1902, he had served as a

FARMERS TRY TO PUSH INTO CONVENTION

Anti-Hoover Forces Prevented from "Crashing" Door by Police

Convention Hall, Kansas City, June 12.—An embittered crowd of hundreds of anti-Hoover farmers made an unsuccessful attempt to "crash" the Republican National Convention today at the hour of assembling.

SEATS, $50 EACH
Spectators Paying High Prices To Witness Convention

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 13.—Spectators' seats to the Republican National Convention were being sold today at $50 each.

These seats are good for the balance of the convention. A few sales of single session seats were reported at $20 each.

Convention Hall, Kansas City, June 13.—A ringing and defiant challenge to the Democrats to "bring on Smith, and we'll bury him," marked the second session of the Republican national convention today, while beyond the confines of the flag-draped hall the suffragans and anti-Hooverites growled and grumbled and predicted dire things for November.

The direct challenge to Smith and the Democrats was sent reverberating through the vast auditorium by Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire. In his speech accepting the permanent nomination for the presidency, he was an entertaining departure from the usual cut and dried prepared speeches of convention chairmen and it went over big.

Senator Moses, one of the original Hoover men, boldly took cognizance of the "defeatist" talk audaciously spread by the rebellious corn belt spokesmen and anti-Hoover leaders.

"We enter this campaign," he declared, "in no posture of defense. We come upon the field aggressively, militantly. We intend to carry this fight to the hilt. And we challenge them to bring forth their strongest champion."

"Whether he emerges from another spectacle like the 100-round battle of Madison Square Garden, or whether he comes from an over-powered convention held in the city of the future, we will bring him on and we will bury him. We welcome him with hospitable hands to a bloody grave."

"And we care not whether his name be Brown, Jones, Robinson or Smith," Moses roared.

TO PLACE HOOVER

DRY PLANK IS INCORPORATED IN PLATFORM

Vigorous Enforcement of Eighteenth Amendment Called for by Borah

Kansas City, June 13.—A plank calling for vigorous enforcement of the eighteenth amendment was incorporated in the 1928 Republican platform today by the resolutions subcommittee following an all-night session.

The plank pledged the party's nomination to observance and enforcement of the amendment.

Not since constitutional prohibition has been in effect has such a sweeping dry program been adopted by either major party.

The plank was a victory for Senator Borah of Idaho, who has threatened to carry a fight before the convention and the country if the party straddled on prohibition this year. It straddled on prohibition this year.

CALL GENERAL LOGICAL MATE FOR SECRETARY

Acceptable to Eastern Leaders and Corn Belt Vote Casters

PLENTY OF ADVICE

Embittered Friends Urge Him To Decline Proffered Post

Convention Hall, Kansas City, June 13.—"It looks like Hoover and Dawes." This was the word circulating about the floor of the Republican national convention this morning as the delegates assembled for the first of the day.

As in the first part of the week, there was no doubt whatever. As to the second part it appeared up to General Dawes himself. His friends were advising him this morning, both ways.

To one leader who sat in touch with him at his home in Lexington, he urged him not to accept several place the general was not committed. He said he wanted to see the platform first.

Logical, Says Melton

There are undoubtedly enough votes in a recent group again to give the word. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon considers him a "logical" candidate. He is acceptable to other powerful eastern leaders, and the corn belt vote for him because of his support of the McNary-Haugen bill.

But a considerable number of the general's friends who are embittered over the Hoover victory are urging him to stay off the ticket and, as they put it, "let the Hoover people stew."

Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas still was reported absent at the hour of assembly this morning. To one of his supporters who urged him seriously to consider the vice-presidency, the Kansas is reported to have replied he was a candidate for no other

RAICHLEY WILL CASE SETTLED BY AGREEMENT

Verdict Returned Following Formal Presentation of Case to Jury

WILL IS SUSTAINED

Terms of Settlement Expected To Be Announced Within Few Days

By MARION O. CHENOWETH

After months of delay, a decision sustaining the Raichley will in the trial which was predicted to extend more than a week in the Wyandot County Common Pleas court was reached here by the jury yesterday, the second day of the hearing.

Only 20 minutes were required to present the case and hear the decision of the jury. The case, presented by James H. Egan, one of the attorneys for the defendants was not contested by the plaintiff's attorneys and the jury was charged to decide the case on its merits. Immediately following its presentation by Judge Earl B. Carter, who presided on the bench.

Indications in information from legal representatives of both the plaintiffs and defendants and supported by a statement by Judge Carter, revealed that a settlement had been made between the two sides involved. The settlement, provisions of which are expected to be announced within a few days, was reported to have been satisfactorily agreed to by plaintiffs and defendants.

Wild Scramble Begins for Vice Presidential Nomination

CURTIS LIKELY TO REFUSE POST

Edge Among Those Favored on Belief He Would Help in East

Kansas City, June 13.—With the selection of Herbert Hoover as the Republican party's presidential nominee, a wild scramble got under way today for the vice presidential nomination.

One man stood out from the crowd, Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, but it was stated on his behalf he would not accept second place on the Republican ticket after going down to defeat in his drive for the presidential nomination. His strength came from the desire of eastern Republican leaders, particularly in the New York delegation, to name a midwestern man friendly to the farmers, as Hoover's running mate.

With Curtis eliminated, Vice President Charles Dawes and Senator Walter F. Geary of New Jersey, were considered to occupy strategic posts in the race for the vice presidential nomination. Dawes was said to be willing to run with Hoover and to have the tentative endorsement of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon. He was opposed, however, by a large number of Hoover leaders and there was little sentiment for him in the allied camps, because of his apathy during the recent campaign.

Edge favored

Edge appeared to be in the most favorable spot. He had the solid backing of the New Jersey delegation, the active endorsement of numerous Hoover leaders and the tentative approval of Senator-elect William S. Vare of Philadelphia, who was instrumental in forcing the nomination of Hoover. With Vare's influence behind him, Edge will be the nominee if the outcome of the race for first place in any other nomination. The "big three" delegations, New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, were badly split over the vice presidential nomination. The New Yorkers had to be satisfied with their own—Theodore Roosevelt, Ambassador Alexander H. Haig, Jr., and Senator Charles McNary of New York. The Pennsylvanians favored Edge and Senator George H. Moore of New Hampshire. The Illinois delegation contained votes for Curtis, Edge and Moore, while Senator Charles D. McNary had a small following.

Fourteen candidates

In all, there were 14 candidates made from Curtis, mentioned for the post. Many of them may not be placed in nomination but all had their friends in the convention crowds.

A summary of reports, heard about the hotels and headquarters, was as follows:

Curtis. Widely urged but reported certain to refuse to become a candidate.

Dawes. Favored by Mellon but opposed by Hoover managers with little if any support among the allies, because of his apathy in the recent campaign.

Edge. Occupies strategic position, because of a belief that he can carry New Jersey and help to carry New York. Vare's approval added his cause.

Moore. A real "dark horse" candidate because of the desire of some eastern leaders to name a midwesterner, friendly to the farmers.

Moore. Generally acceptable but hurt by his geographical location.

Others Discussed

Hoover. Often discussed but without material support, due to his defeat in 1924 by Gov. Al Smith of New York.

Mills. Discussed but with no chance of nomination, due to his defeat in 1924 by Gov. Al Smith of New York.

Al Smith of New York. Mentioned frequently. Helped by reports he can carry German vote.

Fish. Mentioned by New York friends but accorded little chance because of a split in New York delegation.

Senator Arthur Capper. Mentioned by easterners as a possible compromise candidate to soothe the agricultural Middle West.

Henry Allen of Kansas. Mentioned in some discussions as a possible compromise candidate, acceptable to agricultural and industrial interests.

Representative John Q. Tilson. Indorsed by Connecticut delegation and acceptable to Hoover leaders but weakened by geographical location.

Gen. Clarence R. Edwards. Indorsed by Massachusetts as a soldier candidate with good overseas record. A possible "dark horse" because of his geographical location and appeal to the World War veterans.

Col. Henry W. Anderson. Indorsed by Virginia but accorded no chance due to his geographical location.

Col. Hantford MacNider. Soldier candidate, indorsed by Iowa, but without strength elsewhere.

The New York and Pennsylvania delegations were to caucus late today to decide which candidate to support. Should they agree on the same one, the vice presidential band wagon probably will be driven through the convention and their choice nominated Thursday night. It may be Dawes or Edge.

GETS THREE YEARS

D. C. Stephenson Benchman Convicted of Forging Witness' Name

Indianapolis, Ind., June 13.—Earl Kluck, former benchman of D. C. Stephenson, was sentenced to serve one to three years in the state prison and was fined $100 and costs by Special Judge Thomas E. Gavin in Marion County Criminal Court here today.

Kluck was convicted yesterday by a jury of forging the name of William Rogers to an affidavit purporting to retract the testimony of Rogers given before Senator James A. Reed's slush fund committee in St. Louis in 1929 that United States Senator James E. Watson carried an "imperial passport" issued by the Ku Klux Klan.

HOOPER MEN DO NOT FEAR FARM REVOLT

Ignore Riotous Protests of 8,000 Farmers Parading
K. C. Streets

Kansas City, June 13—Hooper campaign managers have no fear of a farm revolt at the polls in November.

Completely ignoring the riotous protests of 8,000 farmers parading the streets and holding countless protest meetings, the Hooper general attacked the farm organization leaders as professional agitators.

At the same time some regular Republicans who deserted the administration to fight the McNary-Hoover bill were trying to quench the fire of revolt which they helped to ignite. "It was expected that this movement would fail," said James W. Good, Hooper generalissimo. "It did not originate with farmers, but with those who would farm the farmers for political purposes. It never had the sympathy of real farmers."

The camp of Senator Curtis and Senator Watson both preached party regularity while the farm leaders were declaring that they would break the Republicans by turning to Gov. Al Smith in November.

"As far as Indiana is concerned, we are all for the ticket—we are Republicans," said Arthur Robinson of Indiana, a leader in the fight for the McNary-Hoover bill.

VICE PRESIDENCY NOT DISCUSSED

Donahay and Albany Man in Secret Session at State House

Columbus, June 13—Confirmation concerning reports of a possible alliance to nominate Gov. Al Smith, New York, for president and Gov. Vic Donahay, Ohio, for vice president at the Democratic national convention this month at Houston, Texas, was not available here today.

Interest in these rumors was increased by the announcement yesterday of the scheduled conference between Donahay and Morris H. Tremaine, Albany, N. Y., state comptroller of New York and head of the State Department of Audit and Control.

After the conference, which was held late yesterday and which lasted more than a half-hour behind closed doors, both Governor Donahay and Tremaine told newspapermen that the vice presidential situation was not mentioned at the conference.

Politics was referred to only briefly and in a casual manner, Donahay and Tremaine said.

NOW the Holland Vaporator Deluxe for fine homes offers all advantages of large heating-cooling systems used in modern theaters, hospitals and schools. A simple, compact plant of reasonable price and low operating cost constantly circulates clean, filtered air—warm or cool, depending on the season—through every room, changing the atmosphere of the whole house many times an hour. Heating response is immediate. The electric Super-Stratulator forces warmth in measured volumes to every part of the house and eliminates forced firing even in severe weather. Thermostatically controlled temperature need never vary more than two degrees. The saving in fuel helps pay for the system. Two settings daily—three minutes morning and night—is all of the attention required.

Proper humidity, maintained automatically, eliminates the chief cause of colds. Air is kept on the march. It comes with life and energy. Floors are warm and draft-free all winter. Summer heat holds no terror. Filtered air is forced by the Super-Stratulator to all parts of the house. The cooling effect is equivalent to an electric fan in every room. The system, built to last a lifetime, may be installed in any size home, new or old. It is tried, proved and guaranteed by written bond. Every installation is made under factory supervision to meet the individual needs of the home it serves. Purchase may be made by deferred payments. # 45 Percent of Marion Wage Earners are Home Owners, Survey Reveals

Figure is Practically Equal to Average for Entire Country: Number of Families Placed at 7,600, of Which 3,375 Are in Own Homes

Forty-five per cent of the wage earners in Marion are home owners, according to a survey made by the Ohio Building Association, an organization made up of building and real estate men of the state.

This figure is approximately one per cent lower than the percentage for the entire country. A survey recently completed by the Industrial relations committee of the United States League of Local Building and Loan Associations shows that 46 per cent of the wage earning families in the country own their own homes.

According to records in the headquarters of the Ohio Building Association in Marion. Of this number 3,375 are said to be home owners. Owing to the class of industries in Marion, there is no difference in the percentage of home ownership among factory people and professional and business men.

The survey made of the entire country shows that while 46 per cent of the wage earners are home owners, there are many regions in which the average is much lower. As a general rule the percentage of home ownership is low in regions of steel mills, coal mining districts, and in cities where large plants employ great numbers of men at low wages.

One example cited in the report of the national survey was of an industrial plant which employed 2,300 men. Only 445 of these were home owners.

The national survey showed that there are 12,000,000 wage earners in the United States.

FATHER'S DAY SET FOR COMING SUNDAY

Marion To Join in National Tribute to Long-Neglected "Dad"

Father, too often unsung and unheralded, will have his inning next Sunday, June 17, when the country will join in paying tribute to "Dad." In Marion, sons and daughters on that day will think in loving remembrance of the deeds of kindness and gentleness of the men who are their fathers.

Mother has her day. She has her songs, too, like "Honor, Dear Mother, I Love You," "That Old Fashioned Mother of Mine" and many others, not counting the 872 "mummy" songs. But the one tune dedicated to father was the uncomplimentary "Everybody Works But Father."

So, it is reasonable to ask a fleeting recognition of the "game old guy" who keeps the proverbial wolf from the front stoop.

Father's Day will be observed by individuals all over the country. Churches in hundreds of cities and towns will devote their services to calling attention to the fathers of the land.

Father's Day is said to have been originated by a Spokane, Wash., woman, who decided that dad's homely virtues had been neglected long enough—calendrically, at least. Several years ago, the third Sunday in June became generally recognized and accepted for the official observance.

There has developed, too, the fine practice of remembering father on "his day" with a suitable gift to remind him of a thoughtful and loving family. These gifts range all the way from neckwear, shirts, ties and hose to a jar of tobacco or cigars for the dad who smokes.

And it is for these good folks that we have arranged to have our Downstairs Store remain open on Saturday night.

This will be continued for a period of time, sufficient to demonstrate definitely whether or not folks desire us to render such a service.

"WE PAVE with BRICK"

NOTICE the pride with which a man tells you his community paves with brick.

That bit of information marks his community as having discriminating taste—and insistent on having things worth while.

And why not? At most, the difference in first cost amounts to only a few cents a yard, and important advantages as well as complete satisfaction are assured for years to come.

Brick, toughest wearing surface man makes, does not rot or crack up. Being waterproof, moisture does not get below the surface to start destruction. So it protects the expensive part of your pavement—the part you cannot see.

Brick pavements as built today are smooth-riding, safe, easy on the eyes. Records show it to be the cheapest pavement in the end.

"The Brick of Good Paving" is a complete treatise, with 100 illustrations and 100 pages of text, explaining the many advantages of brick pavement. Address your request to National Brick Manufacturers Association, 222 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

On application of the plaintiffs' lawyers yesterday morning at the opening of the second day of the trial, Judge Carter gave the jury permission to view the residence of the late Burr Raicheley in Marion. The application was strongly contested by the defendant's attorneys on the grounds that the evidence presented by the witnesses called to testify as to the surroundings in which Raicheley lived, would be sufficient to give the jury a clear understanding of the situation. In charge of the Wyandot County deputy sheriffs, the jury visited the old home of Raicheley yesterday morning.

 recognized as the barometer of trade, which goes to show that it is about time to jettison another old superstition.

If we get the juice of General Pershing's statement made in New York on the arrival of the Leviathan, he wouldn't be able to recognize that presidential boom were he to meet it on the street.

As a result of the investigation of crime conditions up in Chicago inaugurated through its influence, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe has tendered his resignation as a member of the Chicago Bar association, which may strike some readers as at least one accomplishment of the investigation.

Mayor Bill Hale Thompson, of Chicago, says there is only one man who can keep him from voting for Coolidge "and that's Coolidge." No wonder the president announced that he didn't choose to run!

Forty-one paroles were granted by the Kentucky board of charities and correction one day this week, one of them being to a "lifer."
 Of course, the board members just naturally have to show some activity to hold their jobs, but the price the law-abiding public has to pay for it is something awful.

The humes have claimed another victim.
 The Springfield and Xenia Railway company has asked the state public utilities commission for authority to abandon its service between those cities, remove its tracks and take down its overhead system. Who imagined, ten years ago, that bus lines would ever sound the death knell of the electric lines?

A Great Gambling Event.

The Epcom Derby—a horse race run over a course of a mile and a half of uneven turf—is unquestionably a great sport event, but it is something else as well.

The winning ticket in the Calcutta sweepstake proved to be worth $1,310,000. The second honor ticket brought about half as much, and the third, half as much, approximately, as the second. The London Stock Exchange sweepstake offered $625,000 for the winning ticket, and the London papers may be cited as authority for the statement that the sweepstakes in which the first prize was worth over $1,000 ran into the hundreds. It is estimated that the aggregate winnings in all the recognized sweepstakes exceeded $15,- 000,000. It is hardly necessary to point out that if the winners carried off $15,000,000, at least that amount—as a matter of fact, decidedly more—disappeared from the pockets of the losers.

When stakes aggregating over $15,000,000 are won with even greater losses, any sporting event upon which such sweepstakes are predicated must be something of a gambling event as well, and it is manifest that our English cousins, poor and hard-up as they are often described, are some gamblers.

But this is not the worst phase of the gambling done in connection with this particular sport event. The prizes are constantly growing larger. The British papers predict that it will be a matter of but a few years till the organizers of the Calcutta sweepstake will offer a first prize of $5,000,000.

Now in the United States we used to have a gambling proposition known as the Louisiana lottery. No one claimed that it was crooked, but it was suppressed because it manifestly was an out-and-out gambling scheme.

England has two lotteries, two of them, and both are big ones, but she doesn't draw numbers publicly and with every safeguard for honesty out of a great bowl. She bases them on the Oxford-Cambridge boat race and the Epcom Derby. The anti-gambling sentiment has not yet sufficiently developed over there to oppose legislation outlawing gambling.

Transportation of the Future.

The possibility that passenger carriers of the air may soon be replacing those of the sea calls attention to the fact that the art of constructing the vessels thus to be superseded is one of the oldest known to man. We do not mean the art of building such boats as those constructed by the aborigines—great hollowed-out logs, smoothed down at the sides and pointed at each end—but the art which was responsible for boats very much like the yachts and the larger motor launches of today.

There is a boat in the Field Museum of Natural History, up in Chicago, which is held by scientists to be one of the oldest five extant.
 That it dates back to the twelfth Egyptian dynasty has been scientifically established, which means that it is at least 4,000 years old! Like many modern yachts and motor boats it is built of cedar, which largely accounts for the fact that it is still in a good state of preservation. It is about forty feet long, has a beam of eight feet and a draft of four, proportions which are said by yachtsmen to be of a popular average size for modern motor cabin cruisers or sailing yachts. Expert boat builders say that this Egyptian boat of forty centuries past does not in its lines differ to any extent from fast modern craft; that the construction of its midship section is that followed today, and that the molding of its stern was very popular with yacht builders as late as the middle nineties.

True we have enlarged on this model of 4,000 years ago. We are now building with materials better adapted to the demands of the times, if not so lasting in vessels as cedar.
 Steam, electricity and gas have supplanted the sails and oars used by the Egyptians and the sea passenger carriers of today are mighty giants in which hundreds of such boats as that in the Field museum might be stowed away.
 But it took forty centuries to span the gap between the boat of the ancient Egyptians and the Leviathan of today.

True, it is asserted by competent authorities that along many lines, especially those of scientific and mechanical development, we have advanced more in the past 200 years than we did in the preceding twenty centuries. Conceding this to be true, assuming that our progress along the lines stated in the past two centuries has been greater than in the preceding 4,000 years, are we right in assuming that the development of aeroplanes, dirigibles or any other carriers of the air will be anything like so speedy as some of the enthusiasts on aviation deem probable? To be safe carriers over the seas, air vessels must be so developed as to be able to withstand storms as well as vessels upon the surface of the sea; they must be able to ride out the winds and reach port with as great a margin of security as our great transatlantic liners of today. And this development is not going to come tomorrow, or next week, or next year.
 Possibly it will not be attained for many years to come.

And who knows? If such is the rate of our progress today that we can make a greater advance in 200 years than was made in the 4,000 years preceding, is it not possible, even probable, that two centuries hence those who come after us may have harnessed forces which will make the aeroplane of today as obsolete as a speedy carrier as the air enthusiasts of today claim the aeroplane has made today's ocean liner?

It's interesting—this transportation problem of the future. Think it over.

The old problem was to get to the North pole. The problem today seems to be to get back from it.

If the present brand of weather holds for a day or two, a lot of us will feel justified in pulling a blanket or two off the bed and tufling out the gas in the furnace.

Parker Gilbert's announcement that there will be no change in the Dawes reparations plan for the present rather goes to show that he is not one of those given to the habit of accepting something proffered as "just as good."

Attorney General Edward C. Turner has decided that the talking movies are subject to the Ohio state censor board, but that is not liable to prove much of a handicap considering specimens of the spoken drama which have succeeded in polluting the stage.

Despite her six-day bicycle races, we had some hope that New York City would emerge from the municipal jaybird class till we came upon the announcement that ninety-one couples were putting on a dance marathon there and her people were actually paying out real money to see it.

Mary Pickford doubts "if there is any place in the world where there are so many broken hearts as Hollywood." It's a cinch that there isn't any place on earth which has wearied so many.

The aeroplane carrier, Lexington, has established a new day's record for ships, having sailed 700 nautical miles in twenty-four hours, an average of 29.2 knots an hour. And that's the superb vessel we switched from a battleship to a plane carrier in the vain hope of reducing competition in naval armament.

"I am a success at anything I turn my hand to," Wilbur Glenn Voliva is quoted as saying.
 "If I were not a success, explain how I could start in 1907 with eighty-three cents and have somewhere around $15,000,000 in 1920." The explanation might be the multiplicity of suckers in the country.

A headline tells us that a Columbus pastor, addressing the Ohio State university graduates, hits the incompetent critic of religion.
 It would be interesting to have him name one or two competent critics of religion. We confess we have never heard of any.

The tonnage turned out by British shipyards in 1927 was 1,250,384 against 987,123 by all the rest of the world. Britain may do a lot of "muddling," as has been remarked, but she does it to good purpose in the matter of ship-building in furtherance of her plan to retain the shipping supremacy of the world.

Bad Effects of Arthritis.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

What are we to do for the effects of arthritis?
 What are we to do to overcome the deformities and the stiffness of the joints and the annoyance resulting from the disease?

I am not impressed with the various forms of massage and manipulation applied in some instances. While massage may be useful, there is no doubt that if severe manipulation is used, especially by an untrained person, great harm may result. In the acute stage, particularly, such treatment is dangerous.

On the other hand, after the acute symptoms have disappeared, it is important to exercise and move the joints. They must not be permitted to remain motionless. If they are allowed to become fixed, the joints will become permanently stiffened and bent into uncomfortable positions.

Of course, it is difficult to overcome the psychology of these cases. The victim is afraid to move his joints. He is afraid it is going to hurt. You must exercise a lot of will power and persistence to overcome this desire to keep the part fixed. However, unless there is this movement and exercise there is sure to be deformity and permanent impairment of the joint.

One of the most important things to do is to encourage the victim of arthritis, after the acute symptoms have subsided, to exercise his joints and make all the use of them he possibly can. This is essential.

The application of heat, the use of baths with the message very useful. If the victim has wrong habits they must be corrected.

A good pain to ascertain what the great specialists of the country are doing in the control of the bad effects of arthritis. It is interesting to find that in their clinics the vaccine treatment is used.

You may think it funny, but it appears to make no particular difference what vaccine is used, so long as it is one capable of creating some reaction.
 The typhoid vaccine is a favorite one. Almost any of the so-called foreign proteins or other foreign substances like mercurchrome, silver compounds and milk preparations seem to produce reactions which excite the defensive mechanism of the body.

The injections are given every five or six days for a month or two. If they result in relief, they are continued. Otherwise they are dropped.

I simply speak of these matters in order that you may talk them over with your doctor, but it is important to know that there is some prospect of relieving these cases of obstinate arthritis. In cure we depend upon heat, massage, education in the necessity of movement, the vaccine treatment I have mentioned, and such remedies as your doctor may consider desirable.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

V. Q.—I am a boy fifteen years of age. Is there any way I can increase my weight and height?

2.—What do you advise for pimples?

3.—About five years ago I hurt my right eye.
 This eye appears to be smaller than the other. I am told the muscles in the eye lid have ceased to work. What will cause them to function again?

A.—Since you are only fifteen years old you have five or six more years in which to grow. Eat plenty of good nourishing food, including milk, cream, eggs, fresh vegetables and fruits. Sleep as many hours as possible in a well ventilated room. Exercise daily in the open air. All these aids in helping you to grow and gain in weight.

2.—Correct your diet, by cutting down on starches, sugars and fats.

3.—Consult physician.

T. L. W. Q.—What should a boy of eighteen years weigh who is five feet eleven inches tall?

2.—What are some fattening foods?

A.—For his age and height he should weigh about 153 pounds.

2.—Milk, cream, butter, cheese, soups, sugar, pastry, potatoes, corn, rice, oats, macaroni, olive oil, raisins, salmon, salt fish, pork, ham, bacon, lard and nuts.

M. F. Q.—Is whole-wheat flour injurious to a diabetic patient?

A.—Starches are usually prohibited under the circumstances. My advice would be to follow your doctor's instructions as to diet.—Copyright, 1928,

ELECTRIC WATCHMEN.

It would be a mistake to regard the Westinghouse company's televox, with its newest accomplishment of talking out loud, as a mere scientific toy or an exhibit to amuse the natives by scientific wonders.
 The device is perhaps too new for its precise niche in the workaday world to be apparent, but there is small doubt that it will have one. Many jobs need to be done nowadays that do not require the full abilities of a man. Watchmen at railway crossings are replaced by automatic apparatus with electric eyes and ears and voices. Telephone operators yield to the marvelous mechanical brain of the automatic exchange. The temperatures of fires underneath factory boilers, the pressures in reaction tanks in chemical works, even the amounts of combustible gases allowed to escape unburnt by power plant chimneys, all are watched and recorded nowadays by automatic machines. A superintendent seated comfortably in his office a mile or two away reads on a dial on his wall exactly what is happening from second to second.

Joined to these new devices for inspection from a distance are the lengthened arms and fingers which engineers call devices for "remote control." In these the distributors of electric power have been special pioneers. Substations where high-voltage electric power is reduced to safe potentials and distributed to the consumers' wiring, switching points where parts of a power network are connected or disconnected, as circumstances require, much such are now operated by orders from some distant dis-patcher's office, as generalists issue orders to units of their armies. The gradual substitution of these remote controls for human watchmen is one of two outstanding developments in the handling of electric power; the other one being the highly efficient steam plants which now generate most of the country's electricity and of which New York possesses a remarkable example in the East River station on Fourteenth street.

Remote reporting and remote control have been accomplished in the past chiefly by electric signals, like the bell that announces a visitor or the buzzer that calls the office boy. Some progress has been made, also, in remote control by light rays. The televox embodies a third channel of communication, one which happens to be that chiefly used by man.
 This is control by sound. The new vocal abilities of the televox, consisting of speeches enbodied on film records and run off on proper signal, are probably less important than the ability of the machine to listen to sound signals and in some degree to interpret and obey them. With sound added to light rays and electricity as means of communication with our new mechanical servants there will be still fewer limitations to the power of man to watch and listen and direct without being present in the flesh.—New York Tribune.

SENATOR NORRIS'S WEIRD NOTION.

Senator Norris has contributed to the joyful nonsense of the time by contending that President Coolidge can not give the Muscle Shoals bill "pocket veto" treatment because congress has not really adjourned, but has merely "recessed."

Recessed until when? Until the next regular session opens in December as prescribed by the constitutional provision regarding the commencement of sessions. If that isn't adjournment by congress, nothing is.

Or look at the matter another way. The constitution says that if the president does not return a bill to congress within ten days, it becomes a law without his signature, as though he had signed it, "unless congress by their adjournment prevents its return, in which case it shall not become law." Suppose Mr. Coolidge had desired to affix a veto to the Muscle Shoals bill, or to some other bill, to whom would he return it, congress having dispersed? There would be nobody to whom he could send it, and under the Norris theory, he would be deprived of one of his chief constitutional prerogatives. Which is a manifest absurdity.—Detroit Free Press.

Dinner Stories.

Father, lecturing eight-year-old, as reported in London Opinion—"My boy, I hear you have been most recalcitrant."

Son—"Full yourself together, dad! You've been at those crossroads again."

"John, now don't lose your temper!"

"Well, I won't be imposed upon, Mary! Think of that lay him of a guide telling us it would take all morning to get us the Vatican! That little fellow in Paris got us through the Louvre in two hours!"

"Guess we'll have to change the name of Crispian Gulch," remarked Cactus Joe, as he pinned a carnation on the lapel of his dinner coat.

"What'll we call it?"

"We ought to sacrifice the old name entirely. We might rename it 'Flak Rivulet.'"

Astronomy's Figures.

BY GARRETT P. SERVICE.

A correspondent in Lac, Wisconsin, says that although "astronomy" has been called an exact science I have never been able to find an exact science text-book that treats it as such. He then refers to the different figures of the planets different texts for the distances of other variations of statements, and "guess work." I have often noticed that people seem to think that science should be able to measure things with absolute accuracy, and if statements are made in round numbers or approximations of convenience, or because there is a choice to be made between slightly differing results, such variations are set down as evidence that scientific knowledge is more or less of a pretext anyhow. Many persons also neglect to note that science is above all progressive, and that many of its facts are only accepted as approximations for the time being, the very object of scientific study being to test, verify and perfect its knowledge.

Consequently, unless the latest publications are consulted on certain points, the reader may find himself devouring the contents of the scientific waste-basket. In some branches the progress is so rapid and the changes of view so frequent that no one except specialists directly concerned can keep abreast of it.

Take this question of the distance of the planets from the sun, which the correspondent mentions. Some of us can remember when the earth's distance from the sun was set down in all astronomical text-books as 93,000,000 miles. I sometimes receive letters from people who, having found that distance given in Herschel's popular—and still in many respects authoritative and very excellent—"Outlines of Astronomy," suppose it to be the figure now accepted by astronomers. But, in fact, as long ago as 1874 the sun's distance was authoritatively put at only 91,500,000 miles. At present it is set at 92,870,000 miles, plus or minus a possible error of about 10,000 miles.

Mark those last black-faced words. They show that there is no pretense of absolute accuracy in the figures given, although a high authority—Russell-Dugan-Stewart's "Astronomy"—considers that there is no likelihood that they will have to be changed again. In other words, science has probably got as close to absolute truth in this matter as human limitations permit.

It may be interesting to show how the calculation is made. In the first place the parallax of the sun must be obtained by measurement. There are several ways of doing this, which I shall not here describe. Suffice to say that the parallax is the angle at the sun subtended by the radius of the earth, and that it is a very small angle. One of the best measurements makes it 8.802 seconds of arc. Now by the principles of angular measurement in terms of the radian the number 206,265—the seconds in a radian—multiplied by the equatorial radius of the earth—7363.34 miles—and the product divided by the parallax, will give the sun's distance in miles. Taking these figures and performing the multiplication and division you will find that the distance comes out 92,876,425 miles. Vary the estimate of the parallax and the distance will vary proportionally. The smaller the parallax the greater the distance.

This is only an example to show how the uncertainties that give rise to varying statements of astronomical figures originate. The principles are sound and their application would give absolutely accurate and unchangeable figures only if human senses and human instruments were also absolutely perfect and invariable. By remembering that they are not we may save ourselves from being misled. Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.
